Marie Jansen's Bathing Suit.

The town of Newton is one of the oldest seaport- along the New England coast. It used to be a prosperous whaling station, but many years sgo it fell into decay, and now it is a veritable Sleepy Hollow. This semi-comatose community was thrown into a state of vast excitement by the arrival of the famons soubrette, who traveled incognito as Miss Harriet M. Johnson. It was rumored that she was a Cuban heiress, but this false rumor was corrected by the Newton Weekly Palladium, whose editor had once visited New York on a free railway pass, The dash which the fascinating soubrette cut among the man folk of the community was simply awful. Her beauty and the splender of her attire simply parelyzed the town. Ezra Hubbard, a weathy old bachelor, who had been one of the selectmen of the town for going on 18 years, was one of the first to capitulate to the charms of the sloe eyed opera bouffist, and the young fellows swarmed around her like bees in a clover

Jansen enloyed the fun immensely, but the summit of her delight was reached one not August morning when, attired in a new bathing suit, she sauntered down the beach and rolled around in the surf like a young purpose. The bathing suit was of black hith, apridged to an alarming degree, and made upon so conomical a pattern as to fit the weater's rotund person most snugly. "It is delightfully indecent," wrote Miss Jansen to her manager in New York. As the fame of this remarkable bath-ing costume was wafted abroad pilgrims began to arrive in Newton from every point along the coast, and even the inland towns sent delegates. It is only fair to say that most of these delegates were of the male persuasion. The woman folk of Newton arose as one man and declared that never in all their born days had they seen or heard or dreamed of anything so awful; and to show the audacious visitor that they did not approve of her, none would invite her to "occupy our pew with us on Sunday."

Those good but indignant dames to the contrary notwithstanding, the men folk of he village insisted that the soubrette was a only beautiful, but good, and their vered by the fame of the black silk bathing suit The situation became so alarming that the minister of the Congregational church made up his mind to preach a sermon about the bathing suit and of the dan ger in it, and warning the men folk—young, middle aged, old and senile—who stood, individually and collectively, as the ecclestatical phrase has it, at the point of peril. But early one morning the fair Jansen took her il ght - bag, baggage, scrip, scrippage, black silk suit and all-and like Lord Ullin n Campbell's poem, the yoemen of Newton, Mass., were left lamenting. That night the fascinating soubrette flashed before the foottights of an ungodly playhouse in New York, and regaled the brainless dudes with a meaningless ditty entitled "Be Good." That night did peace brood once more among the feminine gender of Newton Mass.; only the men were miserable, and

BY RAIL FROM JERUSALEM TO JOPPA .-The United States consul at Jerusalem reports to the State Department under the date of August 21 the commencement of a survey for a railroad from Jerusalem to Joppa. The report says the French engineers charged with making the preliminary sur vey for the railroad arrived in Jerusalem on the 15th of August and have entered upon their work. The distance between Joppa and Jerusalem, as the bird flies, is 32 miles, but the present road winding up and down the hills and through the valleys, is 40 miles in length. Several routes are suggested, but that most likely to be followed starts from a point on the coast immediately north of Joppa, passing through the German colo ny Garona and crossing the plains of Ramleh and Lydda, and approaching Jerusalem through the plain of Rephaim, close to the German temple colony near Bethlebem road. The greater part of the route lies through the fertile plains of Sharon.

CAUGHT A NEGRO INSTEAD OF A BEAR .-William Henderson, a farmer, living near Fort Smith, Ark., has been missing corn from his crib for several weeks, and finally set a bear trap among the shucks in hi crib. One morning when he went to look at his trap he he had a negro in it. He was caught by the foot, and the sharp steel had nearly cut it off.
